

Meet the Artists

ADEPT ✨

ADEPT is the artistic co-practice of Shanaz Gulzar and Steve Manthorp. The artists have worked together since 2004 creating interactive and light-based installation artworks, drawing upon a range of technologies including digital, video, games technologies, animation and social media. ADEPT's practice is always accessible and socially engaged but uncompromising in the rigour of its artistic vision and the quality of its execution.

Echoing Green

A group of temporary 'arcadian windows' – projection of still-life film studies of Bradford's rural landscape for contrasting locations around Centenary Square.

LUCY BERGMAN ✨

Lucy is an artist who uses film and words to explore various relationships; the relationships people have with landscape, the built environment, their past, future and one another. Whilst creating work that is somewhat abstract in form and at times magical realist in nature, it is important to Lucy to develop relationships with local people during the research process of her projects and underpin her work with the narrative of real-life.

The Belvedere Films

A series of short films that explore and celebrate the connection people have with Bradford's parks, inspired by the memories and experiences of the people who use them. Lucy has also collaborated with artist Noah Rose to design and create a miniature cinema space called 'Belvedere' a unique and intimate setting within which to experience the films.

SIMON WARNER ✨

Simon's current work is inspired both by landscape and cultural history. In the past few years he has made several films about water and natural phenomena, and (with the help of a NESTA Fellowship) has created a series of lectures reassessing photographic pioneers such as Lavater and Daguerre. Simon is active in museum and gallery education, with projects for the Brontë Parsonage, Florence Nightingale, York Castle and Victoria & Albert museums, as well as Harewood House, Impressions Gallery and Huddersfield Art Gallery.

Seven Streams

A live research project investigating Bradford Beck, housed in a multi-media resource base and accompanied by evening performances presenting episodes in the history of the beck.

LARNA CAMPBELL ✨

Larna's practice explores themes of time and place, transformation and narrative and manifests itself in sculpture, drawing, photography and performance work. Her current research explores text and moving image within a public art setting. Larna's work is process led and she has a great interest in material, in particular paper.

Whispering Echoes

Public performances exploring and expressing elements of Bradford's past, present and future, supported by a sculptural sound installation.

JACK LOCKHART ✨

Jack is a visual artist working with a wide range of artists, arts organisations, community groups and schools to create visual art, films and deliver educational workshops. Jack also works with theatre companies to create sets and props and as a performer. He is particularly interested in using moving image in unusual spaces.

Piccolo Cinema

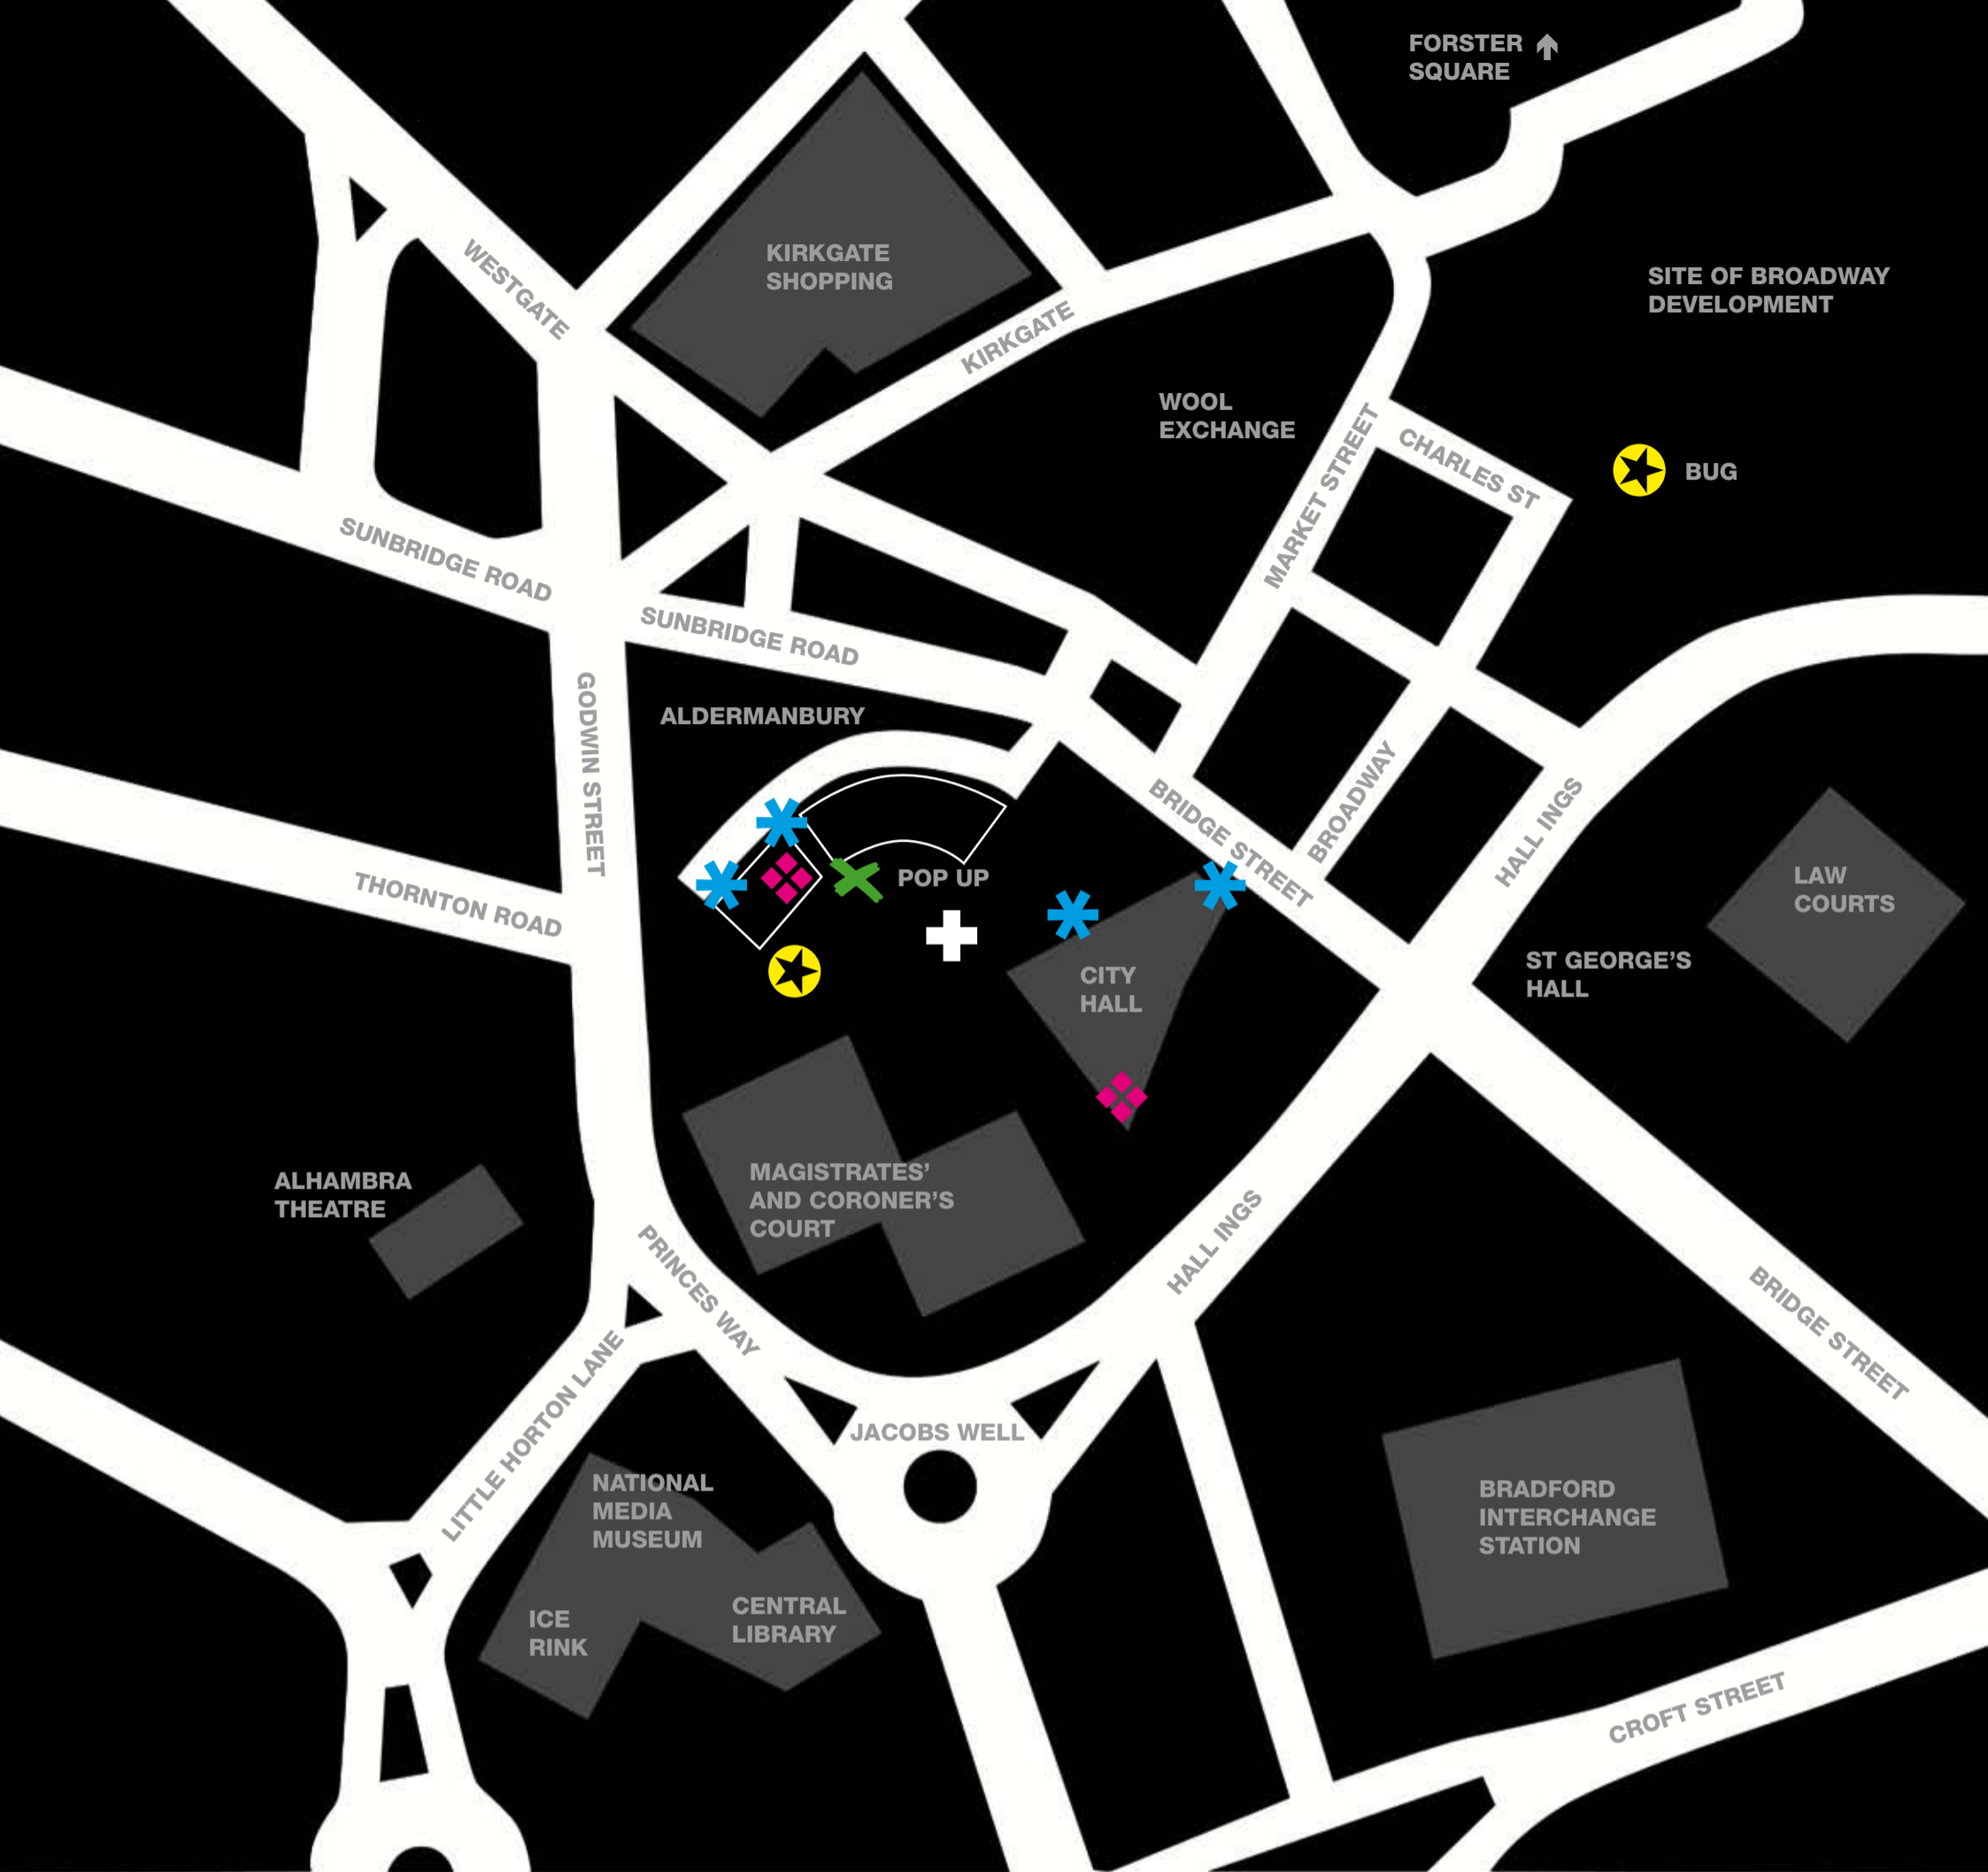

Recreation of an early cinema experience that combines archive and new films of Bradford and explores our changing perspectives on public spaces and pleasure grounds.

THE ARTS OF PLACE CITY PARK BRADFORD

The Arts of Place: City Park, Bradford
7th to 15th October 2010
 An exhibition of films, sculpture and performance; connecting culture and regeneration in the world's first City of Film
 The Arts of Place is a creative programme of temporary artworks, events and learning, designed to involve everyone and to raise the cultural profile of Bradford's landmark regeneration project, City Park.
 As part of the programme six artists have developed a series of temporary multi-disciplinary artworks for City Park during its construction period. The artworks explore the unique identity of Bradford, revealing stories and histories of people and place; demonstrating the value of involving artists in the ongoing process of regeneration.
 City Park will be a vibrant public space in the heart of Bradford city centre.
